SIMPLICITY OF CEREMONY IS MARKED

But Scene of Wedding Was One of Splendor as President's Daughter Was Wed

GLITTER OF UNIFORMS AND SHIMMER OF RICH GOWNS

Costly Gifts from Old and New World and from the Two Houses of Congress

WASHINGTON, Nov. 25.—Amid a scene of rare beauty, Miss Jessie Woodrow Wilson, second daughter of President and Mrs. Woodrow Wilson, wedded Francis B. Sayre of New York at 4:30 o'clock this afternoon. Surrounded by foreign diplomats, resplendent in their brilliant uniforms, the highest officials in the service of the country, women in rich gowns, members of the most exclusive social set of the capital, including several hundred friends and kinsmen of the two families, the bridal couple took the Presbyterian vows in the East Room of the White House, the scene of many famous and historic gatherings. The Rev. Sylvester W. Beach, of Princeton, N. J., family pastor of the Wilsons during their residence in the university town, performed the ceremony, which was of marked simplicity.

Departing from the usual custom of White House weddings, the bridal couple entered the East Room to the strains of Lohengrin's wedding march played by the United States marine band hidden behind palms and flowers.

The bridal party formed in the dining room, after the Wilson and Sayre families had entered the East Room from the state stairway. The 800 guests had already found their places. Mr. Sayre and his best man, Dr. Wilfred T. Grenfell, of Labrador, descended the state stairway, and proceeded to his position at the right of the altar.

Radiant in her shimmering robe of rich cream-white satin, and leaning on the left arm of the president, the bride took up the triumphal march to the altar—a raised platform near the great window opening on to the East terrace. Following came the attendants, Miss Margaret Woodrow Wilson, sister of the bride, as maid of honor; Miss Eleanor Randolph Wilson, another sister; Miss Mary G. White of Baltimore; Miss Adeline Mitchell Scott, of Princeton, N. J.; and Miss Marjorie Brown of Atlanta, Ga., as bridesmaids. Benjamin Burton of New York; Dr. Scovil Clark of Salem, Mass.; Dr. Gilbert Horax of Montclair, N. J., and Charles E. Hughes, Jr., of New York, acted as ushers. With perfectly timed tread, the bride and her father ascended the dais where the Rev. Mr. Beach awaited them with the bridegroom and his best man.

Following the ceremony, and the congratulations of the minister and President and Mrs. Wilson, for more than an hour the guests filed by the couple offering them their congratulations as they passed into the Blue Room, where they were received in turn by President and Mrs. Wilson. The line led through the Red Room and into the State dining room, where a buffet luncheon was served.

Gifts of royal richness were the portion of Mr. and Mrs. Sayre. From the most beautiful treasures of Europe, from the tropics of the American continents, from the choicest jewel houses of the United States, came tokens fit for a king and queen. The House of Representatives sent a diamond lavalliere of surpassing beauty—a canary diamond surrounded by 85 smaller white diamonds. Senators added their tribute; resident society vied with each other to honor the White House bride in giving presents.

The rich hangings of gold which adorn the windows of the East Room formed a beautiful background for the tall palms, Boston ferns, trailing smilax, and clusters of roses and white lilies which formed the decorative scheme. The raised dais, built in the east window, had as a background the gold draperies which were covered with curtains of smilax, studded with white chrysanthemums and roses. Two huge Dresden vases, the finest spscimens of the potter's art in America, presented to the White House by the president of France, stood at either side of the majestic altar, filled with huge bouquets of white chrysanthemums from the United States Botanical Gardens.

In choosing their attendants, Mr. and Mrs. Sayre selected from their associates in the philanthropic and social service in which each has been engaged.

Mr. and Mrs. Sayre have taken for one year the home of Professor William E. McElfresh, 40 Grace Court, Williamstown, Mass. It is a cozy, homey place of ten rooms, two stories high with broad verandas and attractive lawns. It is one of the most charming of the many mansions and cottages in the seat of Williams college and commands a beautiful view of the Berkshire Hills. It is a typical professor's home, and in keeping with the position of the bridegroom as assistant to Professor Henry A. Garfield, of Williams college.

The thirteenth White House bride was born in Gainsville, Ga., and is an honor graduate of 1908 class, Woman's College, Baltimore, and is a member of the national executive board of the Young Woman's Association. The groom is a graduate of Williams college and for two summers was with Dr. Grenfell on the Strathcona.

Day Was Perfect

The weather was perfect for the wedding day. The White House breakfasted at 9 o'clock, when the grounds were already swarming with the curious. One hundred police were on guard. The bridegroom remained at the home of Justice Hughes until the hour for the ceremony. Both families lunched at the White House.

SHIPPING THIRD CAR NAVELS AT ORANGE

ASSOCIATIONS WILL WAIT FOR TWO WEEKS

The Fruit is Not Colored as Well as Usual This Time of Year

It is pretty early in the season to talk about shipping oranges, but nevertheless some Orange county fruit is being shipped east. At Orange the McInnes packing house, an independent house, is sending out its third carload of navels.

The associations are not shipping, and will not commence until about December 10. They report that fruit is not as well colored now as is generally the case at Thanksgiving, and they think it not advisable to ship anything for two weeks yet. Shipments will then reach the east in time for the Christmas trade.

The Orange News says:

"The first car of navels reported so far this season was shipped out today from the McInnes packing house, beginning the holiday season for this district.

'The navels were picked from the E. E. Wickersheim orchard at El Modena, and are bound for the cold climate of Canada. The fruit is well colored and is decorated, while the McInnes house is lining all cars sent out. They expect to ship between 20 and 25 cars of holiday navels.

FRA SERRA'S NAME FOR HALL OF FAME

SANTA BARBARA, Nov. 25.—A likeness of Father Junipero Serra, founder of the California Missions, was urged yesterday for one of the state niches in the Hall of Fame, at the national capitol. The suggestion was made by Congressman Joseph R. Knowland of Alameda, during his address at the unveiling of the Serra cross yesterday.

The state of California will be entitled to fill two niches in the Hall of Fame. The selection will eventually be made by the state legislature.

Mr. Knowland stated that he would be willing to let the nomination go forth from the state and recommended it to the earnest consideration of the legislature.

Father Serra was honored on his 200th anniversary in Santa Barbara as in no other place in California. The exercises opened Sunday afternoon when the students of St. Anthony college presented Father Gliebes' drama, "Planting of the Cross," on the steps of the Mission.

The celebration was concluded at noon, when the Serra cross was unveiled.

Honored Over State

ALLIES CENTER OF THE MONEY TRUST

Twenty-two Billion Dollars Not Enough to Cover All Corporations Under Influence

MORGAN CO. AND 2 BANKS FORM COLOSSAL COMBINE

Louis Brandeis Sets Forth the Vast Inner Workings of Money Octopus

NEW YORK, Nov. 25.—"The huge sum of twenty-two billion dollars is not large enough to include all the corporations to which the influence of the three allies, the J. P. Morgan Company, the First National Bank and the National City Bank of New York, extends."

This is the way Louis Brandeis of Boston will start the second installment tomorrow of his series of articles on the Money Trust, appearing in Harper's Weekly. He continues:

"Among the allies the two banks stand pre-eminent, and constitute with the Morgan firm the inner group of the Money Trust. Each has huge resources, and each, like the Morgan company, is dominated by genius in combination. James Stillman heads the National City Bank and George Baker, the First National."

Brandeis will trace the control of this triple dominating alliance through the smaller groups. In enumerating the existing evils the article will say:

"The first evil is that these banker barons levy a heavy toll upon the whole community through the railroads and public service companies. The second and more serious evil is the effect that the money trust has in indirectly suppressing competition. The third evil is the suppression of industrial liberty."

ULM CARRIED $5000 INSURANCE ON LIFE

Policy Has Suicide Exemption Clause---Lieut. McBride Checking Up the Property of Company L

Capt. N. A. Ulm, who committed suicide last Wednesday night, had $5000 insurance on his life. The policy is in the New Yor.. Life Insurance Co. In the policy is a clause stating that the insurance is not payable in case of suicide.

The question as to whether or not the policy is payable seems to be a debatable one. It is asserted that the insurance company must pay the amount called for in the policy on the ground that the clause will not hold good. Attorneys interested in the settlement of Capt. Ulm's affairs expect to contend for the money.

Action Not Begun

According to information received here, Deputy Attorney General Beebe of Los Angeles should file here today an action that will place the affairs of the Orange County Mutual Building & Loan Association into the hands of a special deputy of the state building and loan commissioner. That action had not been commenced up to 2:30 o'clock this afternoon.

Armory Association

As a result of the meeting of the directors of the Santa Ana Armory Association yesterday, an expert is to be employed to go over the books of the company and make a report of the standing of all accounts. A cursory examination of the books indicates that a good many stockholders who subscribed for stock on a basis of ten per cent down and five per cent quarterly have made no payments. They will all be held for their full subscription. How many payments were made and not credited on the books only a thorough investigation will show.

In one particular the directors found their assets more than they expected. Since the Armory was built a basement for an indoor rifle range and a kitchen have been added, and these were paid for through Ulm.

In handling the business of this company, Ulm frequently forged the name of the president, E. D. Waffle, to checks.

The Armory Association when the building was completed leased it to Capt. Ulm for Company L at $80 a month rental. It was understood then that the state was to pay $60 a month and other sources, such as the M. & M. rent and rental for various meetings. So far as the books show only $60 a month rental was received, that being from the state.

One of the officers of the association stated today that he believed the shortage would be less than $2500.

Company L Meeting

Company L held a meeting last night, and that resulted in a determination to put new vim into the company and maintain its high standard. The company is now in charge of First Lieutenant McBride, who will remain in charge until Brigadier General Wankowski calls an election to select a captain to take Capt. Ulm's place.

Lieut. McBride is now checking over the property of the company. He will sign a receipt to the state for everything there is on hand. That receipt will be compared with the state's lists showing what state property has been receipted for by Capt. Ulm. If there is any shortage, say of rifles, blankets, etc., Capt. Ulm's bondsmen will be called on to make good the shortage.

Company L has fifty-five members now, and loyalty to the company has caused four former members to say that they will again join.

Store is Open

The Santa Ana Book Store is open and Mr. Hoagland, an expert accountant from the Zellerbach Paper Company of Los Angeles is going over the books of the company to see what the situation is.

The lease on the Grand Opera House will be given up by the Ulm estate either today or tomorrow. An agreement to that effect has been reached with the owner, W. F. Lutz.

Attorney Clyde Bishop stated today that he believes the Armory Association business will check up in good shape, showing but little if any shortage.

BASEBALL MEN RUN IN BY WARDENS

California and Oregon Join in Raid of Hunters Who Broke Game Laws

MEDFORD, Ore., Nov. 25.—A raid conducted jointly by game wardens of California and Oregon of a deserted mining cabin on Dutch Creek, resulted in the arrest of six members of the San Francisco club of the Pacific Coast Baseball League on charges of violating the game laws. The prisoners are: Infielder Downs, Catchers Clark and Sepulveda, Pitcher Hughes, Outfielders Mundorff and Hogan.

Hogan, Clark and Downs had their wives in the party. They established winter quarters here several weeks ago. The carcasses of two deers, rifles and ammunition in wholesale quantities were confiscated. Hogan remained with the women while the others were taken to report to the authorities. Hogan must go when the others return.

The prisoners say they thought they were far enough from civilization to be safe. The retreat was located several days ago by Oregon wardens, who notified the California officers.

MEXICANS IN FURIOUS BATTLE

Federals and Rebels Struggle South of Juarez for the Supremacy of North

7500 REBELS ARE PITTED AGAINST 9500 FEDERALS

Battle Began Late Yesterday; Cannonading Heavy—U. S. Officialdom Worried

EL PASO, Nov. 25.—General Rodriguez, commanding the right wing of the rebels, wounded at Bauche, has arrived here for treatment. He said that Gen. Salazar, the federal leader was killed just before reinforcements reached him at Zaragosa. He claims that Salazar's force is practically annihilated. General Porfiro Tatamantes, Gen. Villa's second in command, was killed at Tierra Blanca, and his body was brought here for military honors.

EL PASO, Nov. 25.—Furious fighting began at 5 o'clock this morning between the rebels and federals, the forces being stretched over a twenty-mile battle front with Tierra Blanca, twenty-five miles south of here, as a center. The battle line extends from a ranch on the west to Taragosa on the east. Gen Villa, leading the rebels, had 7,500 men, and Gen. Salazar, commanding the federals, had 9,500 men.

The fight of this morning was a continuation of the one beginning last night at 4 o'clock. The rebels seemed this morning to be in a slightly better position, although it has been difficult to get news from the front. Villa held the telegraph wires and refused to permit war correspondents to file. War news is being brought to Juarez by a courier where all information is being censored. Villa admitted that he lost 100 killed and 200 wounded last night. He believes the federal losses were still heavier than his own. Two hundrd federal prisoners and thirty-eight wounded were taken to Juarez.

The first fighting began today along the rebels' left wing where the fighting began last night. The rebels apparently were holding their own at the last word this morning. Varying reports have been received here. One report sent to Juarez to the effect that Gen. Villa was fleeing before the federals, caused an exodus from Juarez. The majority, however, returned to Juarez when several hours passed without the supposed defeated rebels appearing. Few wounded rebels are being brought in, leading to the belief that the rebels are prospering in battle.

The sound of firing was easily heard here. The rebel artillery is reported as doing execution among the federals. Of the wounded brought here, few had bullet wounds, indicating that the rifle markmanship on both sides is poor.

Gen. Salazar was surrounded last night when the firing ceased and it seemed certain he would be captured today. Gen. Villa had ordered him taken alive, declaring he would execute him publicly as a warning to other federal officers. At daybreak his supporters fought like maniacs, succeeding in holding off the rebels until reinforcements arrived. Salazar then withdrew, pounded on all sides by rebels, who later captured the spiked cannon with which his rescue was effected.

There was much fighting at close range, the rebel cavalry leading furious charges into the federal ranks. At various times the fight centered on the left right wings or the center. The federals were continually repulsed until the final forward movement by the rebels began. Even then it was hard to decide whether the federal retreat was genuine or a maneuver.

VILLA GETS AMMUNITION—FIGHT FOR WATER SUPPLY

Heavy cannonading prefaced the attack today. Firing opposite Ysleta, Texas, indicated that the federals had worked to within twelve miles of Juarez, past the Constitutionalists' outposts during the night. It is reported that Gen. Villa took four wagonloads of ammunition across the border from Socorro during the night. At Constitutionalist headquarters it was claimed before noon that they had repulsed the attacking federal center, driving the federals back to Samalayuca, thirty miles south of Juarez.

BATTLE STILL RAGES AS THE NIGHT APPROACHES

It is certain the battle is the biggest and bloodiest fought in Mexico

Buy Your Thanksgiving Bird From the Meat Man or You May Be Prosecuted

(From the Anaheim Herald)

There will be no more dice throwing for turkeys in Anaheim, following the orders issued last Saturday to all of the various places where turkey raffles have been going on. All kinds of dice throwing except razzle dazzle for cigars are banned, and today there was none of this in evidence. The orders were issued last Saturday morning, with instructions that after midnight all cases would be prosecuted that were found. Pennant raffles are also to be banned after the present supply is gone.

CHILI PEPPERS BRING 8½ CENTS PER LB.

The product, when well cured will bring 8½ cents per pound and most of the crop is disposed of to wholesale houses in Los Angeles. Part of the crop, however, is sent East, J. Allen Knapp being the heaviest shipper of this hot vegetable to the Eastern states. Allen Brothers, who produce a large acreage of the peppers every year, send their crop to Los Angeles.

A short time ago the cured product brought as high as 14 cents per pound, at which time the chilis were scarce and in great demand. Aside from the cured product, many tons are disposed of green to canneries and wholesalers. The produce green was sold for $18 per ton. Contracts for the chili are difficult to secure, stated one of the growers yesterday. The contracts for next season's crop of peppers have been made with ranchmen of northern Orange county already, the papers being signed before this year's crop has been harvested.

Japanese have gone into the industry and are making large shipments from Garden Grove.

FACTS AND FICTION

Experiences of Santa Ana Citizens Are Easily Proven to be Facts

The most superficial investigation will prove that the following statement from a resident of Santa Ana is true. Read it and compare evidence from Santa Ana people with testimony of strangers living so far away you cannot investigate the facts of the case. Many more citizens of Santa Ana endorse Doan's Kidney Pills.

Martin O'Meara, 518 First St., Santa Ana, says: "I have never used anything for kidney trouble so satisfactory as Doan's Kidney Pills. I had that complaint for a long time and the kidney secretions bothered me. The kidney secretions pained in passage and I had to void them during the night. Whenever I use Doan's Kidney Pills my back gets stronger and the trouble with the kidney secretions is corrected. I am thankful for the relief they have given me."

SOCIALISTS STRIKE AGAINST ALCOHOL

Socialists of Berlin are contemplating a strike. Not always is it possible to agree in advance that a strike is wise. This time there will be no dissent on the part of thoughtful people.

The contemplated strike is to be against alcohol. These Socialists have conceived the notion that one of the chains that bind the proletariat is devotion to drink. They believe that for clear thinking a clear mind is essential. No matter what may be the faults of their academic doctrine, in this respect they are right.

It is true that trouble drives people to such relief as the forgetfulness inebriation affords, but inebriation is a cause as well as an effect. A drunken man is no judge of conditions, in no position to aid himself, nor equipped for making a struggle against baleful environment. He is crippled, bound and weighted.

For years China dozed under the pall of opium. It is struggling up toward Freedom. For years the curse of absinthe ate like a corroding poison into the boasted civilization of France.

HOBOS STARTED A FIRE IN A BOX CAR

(From the Anaheim Daily Herald)

Sunday morning about 7 o'clock the employes of the Santa Fe depot were notified that one of the refrigerator cars was on fire and investigation showed that a bunch of about 15 hoboes had been in the car and the one behind it cooking their breakfast on the metal at the ends. In these ends there is a layer of metal, then felt below. When the hoboes made the fire it caught on the felt and being beneath the metal was very hard to extinguish. A switch engine was used to pull the car away from the others, the metal floor was torn up and the fire finally put out.

The fire would have been burned up if the hobo had not notified the railroad men in time. None of the hoboes was arrested.

Would Make Them Better if They Could

The makers of Foley Kidney Pills know that they have absolutely the best combination of curative and healing medicines for kidney and bladder ailments and urinary irregularities that it is possible to produce. Mrs. O. Palmer 635 Willow street, Green Bay, Wis. was seriously ill with kidney and bladder trouble. HARRY LAUDER IS SUNDAY SPEAKER IN LONDON CHURCH

LONDON, Nov. 25.—Harry Lauder, the comedian, made his second appearance in the pulpit at the Anerley Congregational Church, South London, Sunday. Lauder talked about coal pit ponies and their treatment, and gave his experiences as a coal miner. He told the congregation the way a coal mine pony had once saved his life. Lauder said he was driving a car under ground when the pony suddenly stopped and turned and ran from the pit. An instant later, Lauer said, hundreds of tons of rocks fell at the spot where the pony stopped.

LOS ANGELES PRODUCE MARKET

The most decided change in prices on the list of produce within the past two or three days has been on white wax or silverskin onions, which have suddenly advanced as high as $5 a hundred. The demand for this fancy onion and the fact that all other white onions are off the market is the cause. Yellow onions, the Australians and the Danvers have not gone up in anything like the same ratio. Naturally the higher prices on the white onions is causing a better demand for the other varieties. Receipts yesterday totaled 1200 sacks, or four cars. Prices compared with last year are almost double.

There was nothing new in eggs. San Francisco had no session of the Produce Exchange on account of the holiday, and all prices were stationary. The demand locally was good for any ranch stock obtainable. There was no break on quotations. Receipts over Sunday were not very large, only 159 cases being reported in.

Butter was in fair call, and the market was steady. More New Zealand and Australian butter is coming soon, and this is expected to keep the market at about its present level for some weeks to come.

TIENTSIN WILL NO LONGER BE AN ICE-BOUND POR

TIENTSIN, Nov. 25.—No longe will this port, one of the most impo tant in China, and Keking's only ou let to sea, be closed to commerce du ing the winter. The Hai-Ho Conse vation Commission, composed of Ch neese officials, bought an ice breake several weeks ago from the Kiangna Dock & Engineering Company Shanghai. The machine worked well that the commission ordered another, which has arrived. It i called The Dungling.

Taku, the outer port of Tientsin heretofore always has been ice-boun in the winter, thus closing the Pei-h river to shipping for several months The Pei-ho joins Peking with Taku on the Gulf of Chihli, a distance of 10 miles.

AUTOS CRASH AT ELMODENA

Halliday's Car Collided W i th Davis' and Both Cars Were Damaged

What might have resulted in a serious accident occurred at El Modena last evening at about 6 o'clock. M. S. Davis and son Paul, who were returning from Santa Ana, had stopped one block north of Chapman street, near the corner of the new school grounds, to let out Geo. Southworth, who had ridden with them from Orange. Southworth stopped for a moment to say something, when Paul Davis, who was vigorously sounding the horn, warned him to look out as an auto seemed headed directly toward the standing machine. Southworth, by quick action, just had time to jump aside when Mr. Halliday's car struck Davis', the left front wheels striking in such a way that the tire on the standing car was put out of commission, the hub cap dented, the fender buckled, and the axle bent.

Mr. Halliday's car did not come off so well. After glancing to the right his machine, which could not be controlled, described almost a half circle and could not be stopped until it had reached the tennis court on the school grounds. It received a badly bent axle, and its steering gear was put out of working order.

Mrs. Halliday, who was sitting on the front seat with her husband, was thrown forward off her seat when the car struck, and Mr. Dean, a passenger, was also unseated.

Mr. Halliday stated that the lights blinded him so he could not properly judge the position of the standing car.

SCENE IN "THE CHOCOLATE SOLDIER"

AMUSEMENTS

Many Santa Ana people will see themselves on the screen for the first time at the big benefit performance that is to be given Mrs. Florence Seidel at the Grand Opera House Nov. 28-29. During the making of the picture Director Garrick needed a crowd of people and a number of Mrs. Seidel's friends who happened to be at Balboa, where the majority of the scenes in the big three-reel picture were made, were impressed into service as movie actors. Mrs. Seidel plays the star part in this picture. A special matinee will be given on the afternoon of Nov. 29.

"The Chocolate Soldier"

"The Chocolate Soldier," which the Whitney Opera Company will present at the Grand Opera House on Wednesday, November 26, has been the chief instrument in resuscitating the dying interest of theatregoers in the type of light opera made famous by Gilbert and Sullivan. Its success is all the more remarkable because it was first produced at a time when audiences and critics alike had become embittered by a tedious succession of cheap and worthless mediocrities, until it seemed that they were ready to boycott light opera forever. The appearance of "The Chocolate Soldier" in New York several years ago under the direction of Mr. Whitney, was equal to a revolution. The libretto, based upon George Bernard Shaw's "Arms and the Man," in which the wittiest Irishman of his day vents the full force of his wit and satire upon militarism, modern love, courage, heroism and other current topics, with the added flavor of a Bulgarian setting, astonished everybody by the wealth of its dramatic interest.

But the surprise par excellence was the music of Oscar Strauss. Gem after gem of haunting melody flowed from the inexhaustible Viennese composer. Rich lyric strains, blood-stirring marches and intoxicating waltzes were scattered in profusion throughout the score. It is still the unanimous verdict of the American people that the delicious combination of Shaw's wit and Strauss' music to be found in "The Chocolate Soldier" is a symposium of entertainment not surpassed by any other opera of this decade.

KEEPING CHICKENS

Probably if a vote could be taken as to what constitutes the most popular breakfast, bacon and eggs would win. Some of the intellectuals might possibly prefer fish balls; but for the solid background of the average workingman's day, can you beat bacon and eggs?

So the present price of hen-fruit, breaking all previous records, is a national calamity. It seems inevitable when you learn that egg production increased but twenty-three per cent in ten years. Considering how much rich egg-laden foods are used, how many eggs are put into soft drinks, consumption may have doubled or tripled.

Keeping a little family stock of hens was comparatively simple formerly. Any old dry goods box covered with tar paper would do, and the hens roosted in the open shed on the family carryall. Now there are concrete floors, hot water fountains, matched boards, glass and muslin screens. An enthusiastic poultry keeper spends money this way much more freely than for parlor furnishings. But all this elaboration discourages the novice.

Formerly a boy was not considered to have passed through the normal stages of early masculine existence unless he had had a case of "hen fever." The cackling birds were more or less of a nuisance, scratching holes in the lawns. They never felt quite happy unless they were rooting around your neighbor's land, and they were the source of much friction. But they did keep down the price of eggs, and the workingman could have his ideal breakfast.

One trouble seems to be that the wild hen ancestor of our common varieties never used to lay but about an egg a month, and now her descendent is supposed to produce 200 a year. But she is accessible to persuasion. The Modern Boy must be shy on enterprise, or he would not let slip these opportunities at fifty cents a dozen.

Certain rumors assert that down in Mexico Uncle John Rockefeller has been pulling some of the tail feathers out of Uncle Andy Carnegie's dove of peace.

Electricity is a great civilizer. Here is China threatening to discard its picturesque decapitations for the more urbane form of electric chair execution.

Up to the hour of going to press Gov. Foss of Massachusetts had not taken advantage of the opportunity to change his politics again.

Somehow we like New York better now.

It may be the "same old Tammany" but it never will look the same.

If You Have Only Occasional Use for a Bank

There are some who feel that their need of a bank is only occasional and for that reason do not ally themselves with any one institution.

THE CITRUS FRUIT INDUSTRY

SELLING AT HOME, OR DELIVERED?

Can the California citrus crop be sold for cash, California? If possible this would mean much to the industry, at the same time radically changing existing methods of distribution and marketing.

The opening of the Home auction in Los Angeles has brought this question to the front to a greater extent this season than has been the case for some seasons past. This question of bringing the buyer or his representative to California, instead of taking the fruit to the buyer in the Eastern markets has been a debatable question ever since there has been any considerable amount of fruit to be shipped out of California. That the whole of the citrus crop could be sold for cash in California within the immediate future, however desirable this might be, is not at all probable, for the advocates of this method of marketing and those who favor the delivered system now in use are equally positive of the economic soundness of the particular methods they respectively advocate.

That considerable fruit will be sold for cash at auction in California this season is now an assured fact, and that the sale of portion of the crop by this means should prove of value to the industry at large is generally conceded.

In a recent interview Mr. F. H. Speich, general manager of the Home Auction Company in Los Angeles, clearly presented his reasons for advocating the cash California marketing of the fruit, and we believe a presentation of the arguments used, pro and con, in connection with the methods of marketing are of interest at this time.

Mr. Speich bases his arguments and belief in favor of the Home Auction plan on the following points:

1. That the buyer with his money tied up in the fruit will not only become a "booster" to protect his own interests, but that the fruit will be largely sold to the small lot buyer at the point of destination long before its arrival East, so placing it into quicker consumption.

2. That the supply can be more easily regulated from this end by the fact that a low auction today would tend to decrease the pick and pack tomorrow, so immediately reducing the supply available for purchase at the auction.

3. That the purchaser will be able to more nearly fill the requirements of his particular markets as to grades, brands and sizes desired.

4. That the system by allowing the buyer to freely use his own judgment as to the future trend of the market when buying the fruit at the point of production will increase his interest in the orange business, make him a larger purchaser, and in this manner not only increase the market, but widen distribution by inducing the jobber to place men on the road to sell such fruit as had been purchased and was in transit to those markets.

5. That while lower grades of fruit will find purchasers from the fact that such fruit would go direct to its final market by getting into consumption quickly the losses would be practically eliminated.

6. That red ink to the grower would also be eliminated; fruit too poor to sell at auction or fit for market by the delivered method would not be packed.

Mr. Speich claims most emphatically that in the long run the grower will receive more money for his crop; that the increased interest on the part of the trade will react in favor of the grower; that the cost of the fruit would not be increased to the ultimate consumer, for at the present time in such markets as Chicago the retail prices varies but little with the carload delivered price paid by the jobber.

In connection with the details of the management of the Los Angeles auction Mr. Speich stated that the inspection bureau would be run as an absolutely distinct department to that of the auction itself, thus assuring absolute reports on the fruit so sold.

The largest factor in the marketing of the California citrus crop is without question the California Fruit Growers' Exchange, and the arguments in favor of the sale and distribution of the crop as practiced by the Exchange were clearly summarized by Manager Powell of the Exchange at a conference held in Washington with the Department of Agriculture last spring "to secure the views of experts and others in the problem of organizing and conducting a marketing service in the department of Agriculture."

That since the distribution of California citrus fruits has been organized the retail prices have been much more stable, and, considering the quality, has been much lower. The reason for these changes, according to Mr. Powell, are, first, the fruit is distributed by the producers to the jobber on a merchandising basis, rather than by brokers or buyers who secure the fruit at the point of production, and, second, the distribution is systematized, consequently, the supply in different markets is regular, and the jobbers, being able to secure regular supplies, sell the fruit quickly at a small margin, making a small profit on a small number of sales. When a perishable product is grown 1500 miles from the center of distribution and is distributed on a speculative basis the jobbing trade can never be sure of regular supplies, and consequently the jobbers and brokers charge a higher price to cover the risk; but when the producer eliminates speculation and the distribution is regular, the product becomes a staple merchandising article and the jobber, the retailer and the vender turn it over at a small profit.

We thus have the arguments in favor of both methods of marketing the California citrus crop. That the auction is destined to play an important part in the sale and distribution of the crop is assured, for even as the growers or producers are not a unit in advocating any particular means of disposing of their fruit so also is to be found differences of opinion among the Eastern trade as to the best method of obtaining their supplies. While the possibility of proving that any particular system applied to the crop as a whole would return the greatest returns to the grower, it is yet probable that both the auction and the delivered methods may prove successful in handling that portion of the crop under their particular charge.

WORKINGMAN'S COMPENSATION MEETING FAVOR OF FARMERS

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 25.—A surprising number of farmers have declared their intention of exercising their optional right to come under the Workmen's Compensation Act.

For approximately six dollars a year they will be able to insure against damages for injuries to an employe, and this is being regarded as as good a business proposition as fire insurance.

The commission is at present at work on a schedule of insurance rates, which will be adjusted according to the risks of various employments.

Work is also going forward in regard to the safety appliances feature of the act. Avoidable accidents are far more numerous than is generally realized. It is estimated that twenty-five deaths could have been prevented in this state last year if proper safeguards had been provided.

The safety provisions of the California law were taken from Wisconsin's compensation law. In that state it has had a marked success, employers joining heartily in carrying out requirements and suggestions to avoid injury of workmen. Upon thorough investigation they found that in the end it would pay them well to introduce the safeguards.

A favorite statement of the opponents of the compensation act is that if a teamster gets drunk and is hurt in falling off his wagon, the employer will be liable. It is chiefly on such gross misstatements that the attacks on the law are founded. The act specifically provides that no liability arises when the accident is caused by intoxication or the wilful misconduct of the injured employe.

Many employers who chose to come under the accident law which has been in force during the last two years have become enthusiastic supporters of workmen's compensation. A leading baker in this city, who employs a hundred men, has become a staunch advocate. Elimination of damage suits and lawyer's fees is an advantage shared by employer and employe alike. Statistics show that only eight per cent of the workmen injured recovered anything in damage suits.

Statewide Progressive Conference Is Called

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 25.—The statewide conference of Progressive Republicans will be held in this city on Saturday, December 6.

All those desiring to affiliate with the Progressive party are cordially invited to attend. Governor Johnson and other leaders will be present and will discuss future plans.

Just what course will be pursued will be determined at the conference. Formal abandonment of the Republican party and institution of the Progressive party will be proposed and the meeting will establish a final conclusion.

Men and women Progressives alike are urged to come to the gathering, which will mark a historical step in California politics. It is expected that every county in the state will be represented. Candidacies for next year's campaign will not be considered.

The old State Central Committee will meet on Friday, December 5, for the purpose of considering future political action.

The statewide conference will be held at the Palace Hotel.

Progressives who intend to come to the gathering should communicate with Progressive headquarters, 1049 Monadnock Building, San Francisco, 'phone Sutter 4517, in order that those in charge of the plans may judge to what extent preparations shall be made.

Woman's Fads and Fancies

NEW YORK, Nov. 24.—To be truly fashionable this winter you must be prepared to risk both life and limb by exposure. As if the slit skirt were inadequate to reveal sufficiently your nether limbs the slit stocking has been put forward to overcome any such deficiency. Slashed up the side to the height of your knee and airily laced with a silk cord finished with tassels it is dubbed the sailor stocking, possible because it opens up the way to see.

With blouses mere films of tulle cut low necked almost to the waistline, petticoats taboo, the velvet wraps cut out also in the neck and sporting collars of fur only along the back of the shoulders lovely woman is sure to have a sweet time in a snow storm. Doctors are all simply enthused over the winter styles and as for the undertakers, well, they should fret.

What ought to be a great help, however, is this newest fad for the female to tote a cane. Every small boy knows the warming possibilities of a walking stick. In Paris no smart pedestrian is glimpsed these days without one, and it is only a question of a while till Fifth Avenue is simply rife with 'em.

The new imported silk plush coats for those whose pocketbooks will not stand the wrench of a really all fur one are as soft and beautiful as a caress and in taupe or black simulate mole and sealskin to a nicety. This imported plush is by no means to be confounded with the domestic article, which is heavy and coarse as furniture upholstery in comparison. The imported material known to the trade as hatter's plush is as light and supple as chiffon velvet. Gowns as well as coats are made of it and in the many brilliant shades of rose, blue, and yellow it is exquisite and unsurpassed for a draped costume.

The silk plush coats and wraps really lend themselves more gracefully to the voluminous draped models, broad at shoulder and hip and narrowing into the ankles, than the heavier, real furs. A black one with a smart fitch collar (across the back only, of course) is elegant and striking in the extreme, and a taupe with a collar of skunk is very lovely. Most all of these coat wraps are three-quarter length only and invariably show linings of vivid hued satin or brocade.

At the opening of the Little Theatre two astounding headdresses in the audience divided attention with the stage. One worn by a well known dancer was a turban of white tulle wound with a strand of brilliants swathing her brow. Across the house it gave the startling effect of a lady with a severe headache. In any other color save the white the vision of a large night and the morning after would not have been so vivid. The other heady getup on a near actress consisted of large oval jet medalions set in the hair on either side of the wearer's head, from which dangled a chin strap of jet that swayed and dangled under the fair ones rather prominent jaw at every turn of her head. From the many eerie effects one notes on the heads of the fair sex it would seem that the wierder they are the smarter they are.

They have rather long vamps of the kid unrelieved by stitching, or tips and all the rest of the shoe is of duvetyn except the high French heel of the patent leather.

In shades of taupe, brown or grey the combination is particularly chic. The maid or matron thus shod can never be shoddy.

REMEMBER LITTLE ONES

Thanksgiving Treat Planned for Day Nursery—Give of Your Plenty to Them

Those who are blessed with this world's abundance and who are looking forward to a happy Thanksgiving with good cheer, the presence of loved ones and the surroundings of a pleasant home, are asked to remember the little ones of the Day Nursery in a before-Thanksgiving treat.

It has been planned to have a few happy hours for the children tomorrow (Wednesday) at the Day Nursery, beginning with a little spread at noon and continuing with a visit from some of the mothers of the children at 4 o'clock in the afternoon when Rev. Scarborough of the Methodist Church, South, will give a brief Thanksgiving talk. Any friends who are interested in the children are invited to be present at that hour.

All those whose hearts are filled with the Thanksgiving sentiment and who feel an interest in the Day Nursery little ones and their hard working mothers, are asked to contribute to the dinner tomorrow and also something that the mothers may take home for their own Thanksgiving dinner on Thursday. It would be appreciated if those contributing might send their gifts early tomorrow to the nursery so that preparations by Matron Jones and those who may assist her may have the dinner for the children promptly at noon.

With Miss Paul

An interesting meeting of Emma Sansom chapter, U.D.C., was recently held at the home of Miss Linda Paul, 702 Spurgeon street, a large number of members and visitors being present.

A talk on the work of the chapter and the plans of the organization was given by Mrs. Victor Montgomery with good effect. Readings from "Uncle Remus" and "Colonel Carter From Cartersville" were well given by Miss Mayfield and Miss Paul.

A repast of hot biscuits, coffee and other articles of an appetizing nature was served in the dining room. The next meeting will occur in January, 1914.

Surprise Birthday Party

A number of the friends of Guy Billey surprised him last night at his home on South Flower street, and helped him to close his birthday in a merry manner. Mrs. Billey was in the plot so had the house bright and cheerful for the guests. She had also prepared delicious refreshments for their delectation, these being served late in the evening. There was a wealth of birthday cakes, two being in evidence.

Many gifts were heaped on the honoree of the evening and music and jolly games caused the hours to fairly fly, so that the hour was late before the visitors departed after wishing Mr. Billey many more happy birthday events as the one just enjoyed.

Those in last evening's company besides Mr. and Mrs. Billey were Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Turner, Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Berry, Mr. and Mrs. Pat Trickey, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Marsile; Misses Mary Clark, Anna Clark, Bessie Hanniford, Jessie Dart, Julia Ryan; Messrs. James Ryan, Theodore Reister, Clare Young, Lowell Dart, Oral Dart, Bud Hannifford; little Miss Lois Billey and Alberta Trickey and Master Clarence Trickey.

POPE FROWNS ON THE TANGO—BISHOPS FORBID SLIT SKIRTS

The Vatican in Rome, besieged by inquiries from bishops in many dioceses for advice as to action on the tango and similar terpsichorean flings of the present day, has decided emphatically that the tango is immoral and therefore Catholics are forbidden its unlawful pleasures.

Catholic bishops to the extent of several have already taken steps to forbid women of their diocese to wear slit skirts or the diaphanous gown to church services. So the issues are clearly defined for Catholic women as to the extremes in the "light fantastic" dance and the mode of feminine garb.

SCHOOL FOR SPANISH

Spanish Mothers to Join P.-T. Ass'n at Central—Fine Results of Work Shown

A Spanish parent-teacher association is now being organized at Central school and a preliminary meeting was held there yesterday that was of unusual interest. Twenty-eight Spanish-speaking mothers with their smaller children were present, showing by their presence their keen interest in the educational opportunities of their children.

The meeting was presided over by Mrs. F. H. McElree, who invited Mrs. Weaver, janitress of the school, to give an address to the Spanish visitors in their own tongue. It was received with interest, many of the parents asking questions of the speaker, showing their earnestness.

Mrs. Eckert, who also spoke in Spanish, warmly praised the zeal of the teachers, Mrs. Eugene Clark and Miss Miriam J. Rollens, and commended the work they are accomplishing. A. M. Davis, who has charge of the manuel training work and who has done wonders with his pupils, spoke on his department and gave an exhibit of the useful and handsome articles made by the student of the school.

Two songs in Spanish were sung by Prof. Richelieu and some of the girls in the school also sang, their sweet voices giving pleasure to the selections given in Spanish. Graphanola music and a luncheon served by the older pupils were other pleasing features of the afternoon.

The visitors, including Supterintendent of City Schools J. A. Cranston, Rev. Fred Staff of the Congregational church, Mrs. M. E. Shaw, Mrs. Whitney and many others, were then taken on a tour of inspection of school rooms and the domestic department, including bath room and kitchen. The cleanliness and sanitary condition of the entire place was remarked and praised.

Rev. Mr. Staff was especially earnest in his admiration, saying:

"The influence of this school must of necessity be far reaching in its effects, and the greatest praise must be given to Mrs. Clark and Miss Rollins, because they do not go about their work in a perfunctory manner, but with an altruistic feeling of love for the children and their work which must make for good."

What will it be—Shirts, Neckties, Underwear, Gloves, Hosiery or a Hat? Perhaps you're thinking of a suit or overcoat. Then let us suggest Gold Dollar Clothes.

Thanksgiving Day has come around 67 times since the Gold Dollar Makers first began to specialize in good, ready-for-service clothes at medium prices.

As a result of this long and successful experience they have reduced clothes making to a science. Expensive, laborious operations have been simplified or replaced with new and original methods that cut out waste, save time and reduce cost of making, with as good or better results.

The benefit is yours. Gold Dollar Scientific Tailoring gives you all-wool clothes,—right in fit, style and shape,—for less than you would believe you could get so much real clothes value for—$15, $20, $25.

They're guaranteed too—another good reason why you are as safe in buying them as we are in selling them.

New styles in hats, too, and shirts as well; with full flowing end neckwear to match the new collars.

HIGH WATER MARK FOR LOCAL RENTAL

Calixico Chronicle: As an evidence of the present prosperity of Calexico and the faith of its citizens in its future, the leasing of the Brooks building near Second and Rockwood is a matter of more than local interest. The building is the latest addition to Calexico's business houses and is strictly modern. It has a frontage of 25 feet on Second street and a depth of 125 feet, with twenty-foot ceilings. Its ventilation is claimed to be perfect and its lighting is exceptionally good. It has double show windows of plate glass and its front is finished with marble.

It has bee nleased by M. Scruggs and F. Renaud for a period of five years at $125 a month, or a total of $7,500. They feel that they have secured the best business house in the city and one which will prove to be the forerunner of many more of even a better class of construction and finish. J. S. Brooks of Santa Ana is the owner and it was he who planned and superintended the work of remodeling the structure. Mr. Brooks has long held property in Calexico, all of which was unimproved until he traded a portion of his holdings for this building which he has remodeled. Mr. Brooks has taken great pride in his work of giving Calexico this improvement. The growth of the city has made him much money and he now feels that he has partially repaid the city for what it has done for him.

AT THE COURT HOUSE

OVER $80,000 IS PAID LAMB

Yesterday Biggest Day's Receipts in History of the County

Will of William McKinney Was Filed at Clerk's Office by Bank

Yesterday was the biggest day the Orange county tax collector's office has ever known. Yesterday Tax Collector Lamb received $80,614.65. Of that amount $74,302.46 came over the counter in cash and checks, and $6,312.14 through the mails in checks.

On top of that Lamb has about 2000 letters that he has not yet had time to open.

From early morning until the office closed at 6 o'clock, at which hour taxes became delinquent, the tax collector's counter was crowded with people, there to pay their taxes.

Will Is Filed

That William McKinney, who formerly lived on East Sixth street, died in Illinois was made known here today when his will was filed at the courthouse by the First National Bank. The will was written on May 26, 1908, and was witnessed by Victor Montgomery and A. J. Crookshank. It states that a forty-acre ranch had already been deeded to Mrs. McKinney. The Santa Ana home and lots at Long Beach are left to three grandchildren at Rutland, Ill., and the rest of the property to three children in Illinois.

Answer Is Filed

Today Attorneys Scarborough & Forgy filed an amended answer in the suit of Dr. D. E. Royer against D. N. Kelly as executor of the estate of Caroline M. Conn for $22,400. MEXICANS IN FURIOUS BATTLE since 1848. Hundreds are believed to have fallen. This afternoon the federals seemed to be retreating all along the twenty-mile front but were stubbornly contesting every foot. Reinforcements for both sides are arriving. Gen. Salazar, surrounded with a thousand men, was in danger of capture when reinforcements coming up with four cannon permitted him to retreat.

Gen. Villa directed the rebels from headquarters at Tierra Blanca by telegraph. He has wired Juarez for provision trains and all the water available. The panic at Juarez is abating and reassuring messages from the front have induced many to return from El Paso.

As night approaches there is no indication of a cessation of the engagement. It is reported that Gen. Villa, if successful, will push on to Chihuahua, then to Mexico City.

Battle at Las Vacas

EAGLE PASS, Texas, Nov. 25.—A battle between the Mexican rebels and federals with eight hundred men engaged is in progress at Las Vacas. No direct news has been received.

AMERICANS WERE UNWELCOME VISITORS IN JAUREZ TODAY

EL PASO, Nov. 25.—The street cars continued to operate across the international bridge today but the Americans were not welcome in Juarez. Those who had business there were given passes which they were frequently compelled to show. Others were turned back. The exodus of Mexicans to El Paso continued throughout last night to noon when it ceased.

A machine gun and platoon troop of American cavalry is reported en route here from Columbus, N. M., to strengthen the border patrol.

U. S. WORRIED OVER THREATS AGAINST ENGLISH INTERESTS

WASHINGTON, Nov. 25.—Officialdom here is considerably worried today over the situation in the Mexican district of Tampico. Gen. Aguilar, leading the rebel forces there, has promised American Admiral Fletcher to respect foreign lives and property, but repeated threats are being made against the British oil interests there by the rebels, who are unfriendly to the English, believing they have upheld the Huerta regime. The American administration feels in duty bound to protect these interests.

The administration, however, is encouraged over the outlook in Northern Mexico.

FEDERALS CLAIM WON VICTORY AT MAZATLAN

MEXICO CITY, Nov. 25.—The war department announced last night that the port of Mazatlan was attacked at 5 o'clock Saturday afternoon by 3000 rebels commanded by Santiago Riveros. The fight continued until 5 o'clock yesterday morning, when the rebels withdrew, leaving 100 dead on the field. General Rasgado commanded the federal garrison of 1500 men. The federal artillery fire worked havoc among the rebels.

GIRLS! DRAW A MOIST CLOTH THROUGH HAIR

Try This! Hair Gets Thick, Glossy, Wavy and Beautiful at Once

Immediate?—Yes! Certain?—that's the joy of it. Your hair becomes light, wavy, fluffy, abundant and appears as soft, lustrous and beautiful as a young girl's after a Danderine hair cleanse. Just try this—moisten a cloth with a little Danderine and carefully draw it through your hair, taking one small strand at a time. This will cleanse the hair of dust, dirt or excessive oil, and in just a few moments you have doubled the beauty of your hair. A delightful surprise awaits those whose hair has been neglected or is scraggy, faded, dry, brittle or thin. Besides beautifying the hair, Danderine dissolves every particle of dandruff; cleanses, purifies and invigorates the scalp, forever stopping itching and falling hair, but what will please you most will be after a few week's use, when you see new hair—fine and downy at first—yes—but really new hair growing all over the scalp. If you care for pretty, soft hair, and lots of it, surely get a 25 cent bottle of Knowlton's Danderine from any drug store or toilet counter and just try it.—Advertisement.

CHRISTIANITY IS GROWING IN CHINA

E. H. Munson, son of C. R. Munson of this city, is located at Fuchow, China, where he is at the head of the Y. M. C. A. work of Fuchow province, embracing a population of 17,000 people. He is deeply interested in the work and sends frequent and interesting communications on Y. M. C. A. progress to this country, both to private individuals and to the press. In a recent letter in the November number of the Foreign Mail, one of the publications of the International committee of the Young Men's Christian Associations, New York City, Mr. Munson writes interestingly of one of the rising native figures in Christian ranks in China, Sung Chen Tren, of whom he says:

Influence of Christians in Important Positions

"Mr. Sung Chen Tien, a native of Shantung Province, was a teacher three years ago in one of the government schools in Chinchowfu. When the official edict came commanding every student and teacher to bow before the temple of Confucius, Mr. Sung refused, because he was a Christian. He was immediately put out of the school by the government. Just last week I was in Chinchowfu and met this same Mr. Sung. Today, less than three years from the time he was put out of the old educational system, he is superintendent of all government institutions of the province.

"I had just twenty-four hours to spend in Chinchowfu and while there wanted to get in touch with the government school situation. Everybody was of one opinion, Mr. Sung was the very man to reach. After a short conference with him, he suggested that it would be a good idea to invite the government school students to a meeting in the mission church that evening. It was entirely through the influence of Mr. Sung that over six hundred students came out to hear a Christian address. Following the address, the presidents and a few of the students of three of the schools gave us an invitation to come to their institutions the next morning and address their students along the same line. Never before have I talked more "straight from the shoulder" on Christianity than I did before these men. Our train left at 11 o'clock in the morning, so between 7:30 and 10:30 I had the privilege of speaking before the students and faculty of three of the government schools. It was the first time that a Christian had given an address in any of these institutions. When one sees the marvelous influence of such men as Mr. Sung, he cannot help but feel optimistic for the future of China."

U. S. STAR GAZERS ENVIED BY FRENCH

Great Interest Felt in Effort of U. S. Astronomers to Signal to Mars

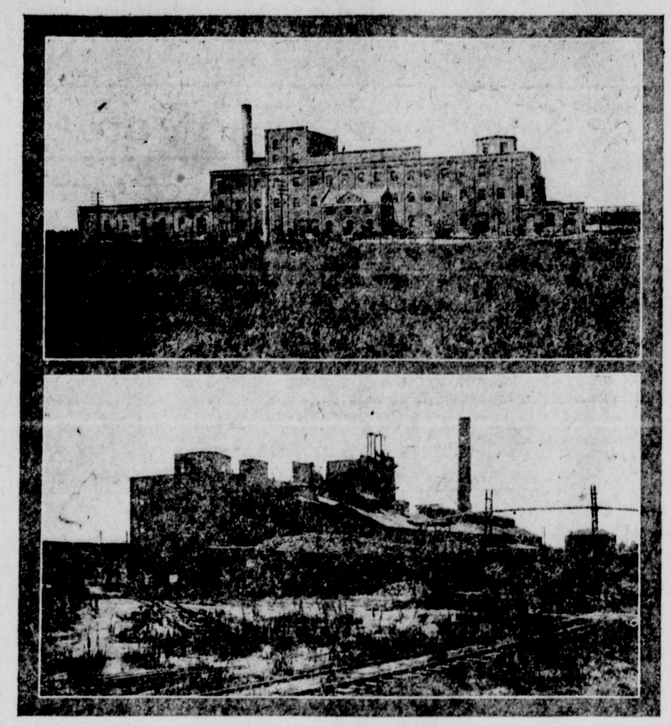

PARIS, Nov. 25.—French astronomers are watching with a great deal of interest the preparations of American star-gazers to try to find out in January if Mars is inhabited and is trying to signal the earth.

"We shall have to content ourselves with seeing what we can from France," declared M. Bigourdan, of the Paris Observatory, "because we lack the money to transport ourselves to the Equator as American observers will do. However we shall await with considerable eagerness to hear the result of the trip, for Mars will be very close to the earth in January and perhaps many of the problems now vexing us about Mars may be solved."

Fritjof Le Coultre, of the Geneva Observatory recently reported sudden flashes on Mars which appear as if the Martians were trying to signal the earth. On the same date observers at Flagstaff, Arizona, saw the same phenomenon. But M. Bigourdan, though not disputing the theory, inclines towards the possibility of auto-suggestion in much that concerns Mars, its canals, bodies of water, vegetation, etc.

"We must wait until telescopes are nearer perfect than they are now," he said, "in order to find out what is going on in Mars. Some say there are canals, etc. Others, equally learned, say they cannot see them. Those who do see them admit that there must be a certain amount of 'training' undergone before they can be seen; from that point to auto-suggestion isn't a very far cry.

"The first thing the American observers will try to find out next January is whether there is vegetation on Mars. If there is no vegetation there is no water on the surface of the planet, and without water there can be no life, and the Martians will prove to be an imaginary people. Nothing can be seen from Paris in January. What we would like to do is to get to Africa. Unfortunately, however, we can't. We lack the sinews of war."

ANAHEIM SUGAR FACTORY

ANAHEIM SUGAR FACTORY CLOSED CAMPAIGN SUNDAY

Last Season of the Republican Tariff--- What Will Be the Effect of the Reduced Tariff?

The Anaheim sugar factory has finished slicing the 1913 crop of sugar beets. Superintendent Jessuran said there were about 220 men laid off, men who have been earning an average wage of $2.50 per day. There were 72,000 tons of beets sliced at an average rate of 700 tons daily, making 187,500 pounds of white sugar in addition to the unrefined brown sugar.

The closing of the season of 1913 will be the last season of the sugar beet industry under the Republican high tariff rate, and what will follow is a matter of conjecture. Whether or not the industry will continue to be as profitable as formerly remains to be seen. The coming season of 1914, at least, is going to be hard on the factories, for after the first of March next, a reduction in the tariff is to go into effect which will cause the price of sugar to drop $1 a ton, according to the statement of the superintendent. The main provision of the tariff, of course, does not take effect until 1916.

In discussing the prospects for 1914, Mr. Jesserun said that he thought the outlook was very discouraging. He stated that no money would be spent for equipment for the plant, except that money spent in repairing and preparing for the next season. He said that in his opinion there would be a reduction of at least 25 to 40 per cent in the acreage. Where the growers have been receiving $5 a ton for their beets this year the coming year will see the price reduced to $4.25 per ton, stated Mr. Jesserun. The number of men who will be laid off from their regular and profitable employment is bound to have its effect upon the business of the community. This money is for the most part spent here, although there are several employes who live outside of the city. These 220 men receiving an average of $2.50 per day in wages will mean a loss of earning capacity of a little over $550 a day. The shrinkage in profits which the growers will suffer is difficult to calculate. It has been sa id by some that the growers intend to form associations which will regulate the prices for which they will sell their crops. These crops are all contracted for before the beets are planted. Indications are very good so far as weather conditions are concerned.

FOR NEW ROAD DEMAND NO ROAD HUNTING

Gun Clubs Will Deed Boulevard When Shooting Ordinance Passes

Newport News: The coming coast boulevard gives the gun clubs the chance to play the ace they have had up their sleeve for a long time. The gun clubs have long desired the passage of a county ordinance prohibiting road shooting, the same as now in effect in Los Angeles county, but the Board of Supervisors have turned a deaf ear to the request. As a result, the gun clubs have been greatly pestered and worried by the road shooters, who line up along the county roads adjoining the duck clubs, and not only get good duck shooting, but hinder the sport of the club members. It now happens that the county is obliged to ask the Bolsa Chica, the Surf and the Pacific clubs to grant rights-of-way through their property in order to build the coast boulevard. The Bolsa Chica, the wealthiest duck club in the state, said it would put the deed for the right-of-way up in escrow on the passage of a law prohibiting road shooting in Orange county. The supervisors have no choice in the matter, as the road is of a great deal more importance than the questionable right of people to line up alongside a gun club and shoot ducks.

SUFFRAGETTES TO BACK ULSTERITES

Sir Edward Carson Writes Votes for Women into Ulster's Governing Plan

LONDON, Nov. 25.—Members of the Women's Social and Political Union are jubilant over the promise of votes for women made by Sir Edward Carson and other Unionist leaders who are organizing the "Provisional Government of Ulster."

With the sanction of Mrs. Emmeline Pankhurst, wired from Paris, the following statement was issued this week at W.S.P.U. headquarters in Kingsway:

"We hail as a great victory the announcement that the draft articles of the Ulster Provisional Government provide that women shall have the vote on the same terms as men in the election of the Ulster Parliament.

"The policy of the Woman's Social and Political Union will therefore be to do everything possible to prevent the voting rights which Ulster men are conceding to women being taken from them by the Liberal government. The union will henceforth oppose the government and the National party with more vigor than ever, because if the government and Mr. John Redmond should be successful in forcing the Home Rule bill upon Ulster, women would be robbed of the voting rights which Sir Edward Carson and his colleagues are prepared to grant to them under the provisional government.

"During the autumn campaign the Woman's Social and Political Union will occasionally advertise the fact that a so-called Liberal government is less progressive where the rights of women are concerned than their Unionist opponents, and that whereas the men of Ulster are ready to share their political rights with women, those who are responsible for the Home Rule agitation are not. The W.S.P.U. declares that there can be no return to the old position of affairs under which Ulster women, like the women in other parts of the kingdom, had no control over lawmaking. Whether they are under the rule of an Ulster Parliament or of the Imperial Parliament, they must in either case have the vote.

HEAVY RAINFALL IN TEXAS CAUSES GREAT DAMAGE

DALLAS, Tex., Nov. 25.—Heavy general rains over North Texas since Saturday have caused damage to property at several points and aroused apprehension of flood. At Abilene a large dam went out and at Ballinger, where the precipitation was four inches, the power station was put out of commission and the pumping station flooded, cutting off the city's light and water supply. Four inches of rain fell at San Angelo. At Denton the Trinity river was reported to have flooded much low-lying territory.

CHINA MAY SEEK TO PUSH COMMERCIAL INTERESTS ABROAD

PEKING, Nov. 25.—Sun Pao-chi, minister of foreign affairs, and President Shih Kai lately had a conference on the proposal that the republic send a commercial attache to each of its legations abroad. The president and minister are said to have agreed that the time has come for China to do something like this as a fore-runner of the republic's plan to push its commercial interests in all parts of the world. Further announcements along this line may be expected within a few weeks, and it is not unlikely that the first commercial attache to be appointed will be assigned to the legation at Washington.

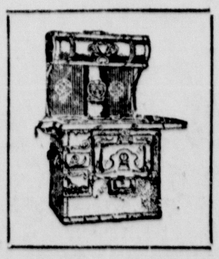

For Children there is Nothing Better

A cough medicine for children must help their coughs and colds without bad effects on their little stomachs and bowels. Foley's Honey and Tar exactly fills this need. No opiates, no sour stomach, no constipation follows its use. Stuffy colds, wheezy breathing, coughs and croup are all quickly helped, and sweet refreshing slumber instead of feverish tossing at night. It is easy therefore to understand why an increasing number of bottles of Foley's Honey and Tar Compound is sold yearly. Wingood's Drug Store.—Advertisement.

Where Storm Waters Are Diverted in the Santiago Canyon

WINTER STORM WATER SPREAD IN CANYON TO BE USED LATER

EL MODENA, Nov. 25.—Since the fine rains it has not been necessary to run the John T. Carpenter Company's pump, which has been supplying about 70 inches of water for nearly six months. It is almost impossible to estimate the value of this well to the El Modena section.

The John T. Carpenter Water Co. and the Serrano Water Co., which supply the El Modena and Villa Park sections, in conjunction with the Irvine company, have a force of fourteen men and several teams at work preparing to divert the winter's storm waters on much of the available lands in the canyon above the county park. At present they are working near the mouth of the Santiago Canyon. This is a movement that will result in great benefit to all parties interested. The water thus stored percolates through the earth and comes out far below for use in the summer.

J. C. Kelly is busily engaged with three eight-mule teams putting in about 1000 acres of barley near the south boundary of Orange county.

Harry Mayer has bought five lots from Mr. Bentson. Although he intends leaving soon for Colorado, he wants a home to come back to, so he will not take any chances about having a home when he returns to Southern California.

Mr. Taylor, who bought the Mayer property, has moved into it, and Mr Mayer now occupies the Winslow property.

G. Lancaster is still busily engaged in planting lemons on the Crawford ranch southeast of El Modena. When in bearing this ranch will fully equal the Lemon Heights district just south of it.

RAPID PROGRESS BEING MADE AT COUNTY FARM

Work is Being Rushed as Fast as Possible—A Force of Thirty Workmen Now Employed

Building activity at the County Farm, located at West Orange, is progressing at a rapid rate, and the main building, the County Hospital, 48x90 feet, is being pushed by a bunch of 30 workmen. The 14-inch wall of the basement has been completed and the 12-inch walls of the first floor forms are rapidly being finished. Workmen will start to fill them up the latter part of next week or the first of the following week.

There are to be three floors, the second being of similar dimensions as the first. The third floor is to be a rest room and sun parlor combined, with dimensions 28x38.

There are to be three dining rooms in the building, one for the ladies, another for the men, and a private one for the use of the officials.

A special convenience in connection with the third floor is that verandas will be built, and doubtless will be greatly appreciated by the inmates.

With a modern hospital, equipped with an operating room and a maternity ward, Orange county will be prepared to take care of those needing medical attention.

The building will be strictly fireproof, and is constructed entirely of reinforced concrete. All floors are of concrete, hence if a fire should start it could not gain headway.

On the 72-acre farm purchased for the purpose, four attractive cottages have already been built, as well as a house for the superintendent, and a large pumping plant. Contracts for the erection of three additional cottages and a laundry and a clubhouse have just been let at a cost in excess of $8000. A chapel is also to be built. The farm has an excellent water supply, and the superintendent, E. A. Chaffee, has put in extensive gardens, raising sufficient vegetables for the use of the inmates of the farm. It is the plan to set 30 acres to oranges next year. Beans, alfalfa, and other farm crops will be planted, as well as a variety of fruit trees.

NEWSY NEWS FROM NEW YORK

By Carlton Ten Eyck

NEW YORK, Nov. 24.—Note to editors: Mayor Ardolph Kline, filling in the hiatus between the late Mayor Gaynor and the next Mayor Mitchell, made a Ten Eyck a municipal judge. It was not us.

Those who are old-fashioned enough to believe that for a dissatisfied husband or wife to obtain a divorce is a blight on their good names that can never be erased, should call some Wednesday at the county courthouse, the massing stone structure on the outskirts of City Hall Park.

Obtaining a divorce nowadays in New York is like attending a performance of "East Lynn," "Shore Acres" or "Uncle Tom's Cabin" in the old days. The audience used to chew candy, talk about the neighbors and in other pleasant ways kill time until the curtain went up. Then while Little Eva went to Heaven through the dusty flies, or the heroine in "East Lynn" coughed herself to death, they used to weep handkerchiefs full of tears. Afterwards, while the orchestra played the "Blue Danube" or something else, the candy, gossip and laughter would come into play again. And so it is with obtaining a divorce—an undefended divorce in the New York supreme court.

Outside of the divorce mill in the county courthouse, which is just to the right of the elevated entrance on the second floor, is a spacious alcove. In this space the divorce seekers gather. They are mostly women, happy, laughing, chattering, carefree creatures. If they are mothers of children who can walk, they have the children with them, and the little ones do everything that is disturbing in a courthouse. They get between the serious-looking judge's legs, shout, scream, and do everything but fall down the elevator shaft.

Every woman who goes to the divorce court is happy. She probably would not be after a divorce if she were not happy, joyous that is, in the anticipation of having the triple-plated joy of a divorce—freedom, happiness and alimony. Before her lawyer tells her that it is time to go inside the courtroom for the glad event, she laughs and jokes with the audience, her friends who have come to be present. She talks about the newest play and the style of some sister divorcee's gown.

But once inside the courtroom, a change is apparent. It is a change from the gay to the grave. The buoyancy of the plaintiff's step is gone. The smile that only a moment before wreathed her face has vanished, and she stands, a dejected and sad sister who appeals to the majesty of the law for separation from a brutal and faithless husband. The tears are close, but they do not come until she is called to the witness stand to answer the routine questions. With the first query comes a stray tear. With the question, "Have you condoned the offense?" comes a rivulet of brine, and when she is commanded to "Produce your marriage certificate, madam," the flood gates are opened and the salty spray moistens a cheek that for one day in her life, at least, knows neither rouge nor rabbit's foot.

The closing of the door behind the new recruit is like the falling of the curtain on the ascension of Little Eva or the death of the tubercular lady in "East Lynne." The tears disappear, the gossip is resumed, and the heart that only a moment before sobbed out its tale of woe, is resplendent with the happiness that comes from genuine joy.

"New York girls do not know how to play," Miss Maybelle Ford, one of the best little play-mates in the playing business, made the assertion with all seriousness and gravity. She is one of those in charge of the Berkeley Lyceum, a sort of club and gymnasium for women, and she did not refer to New York children, but to "grown up" girls and women. "Why, we actually have to teach our girls how to play the simplest of games," she continued. "For the first time in the lives of most of them they have a playhouse. They love it. They wander about like children, and shriek and laugh with delight over games that would seem dull and tame to the child who was properly reared."

In the "playhouse" they have a gymnasium, baths, rooms for table games and courts for athletic games. On certain evenings they have dancing and entertainments. Any "girl" in New York, young or old, may have the privilege of the "playhouse" for one dollar a year.

Mrs. Emmeline Pankhurst, the British militant tonight will take her farewell shot at New Yorkers, in a speech at Carnegie Hall. She is due to leave America tomorrow, that being the understanding when the immigration authorities let her in. Mrs. Pankhurst has completed a tour of American cities as far west as Chicago, but her work was much like "carrying coals to Newcastle." In fact the visit of Mrs. Pankhurst was a bit superfluous. In England, where her kind have been smashing windows, burning houses and exploding bombs, women are a long way from obtaining the ballot, while in America, in some of the very states where Mrs. Pankhurst spoke, women have the vote, and they got it without violence. But then, they do say one must literally hammer an idea into an Englishman's head.
